Christ knew that the splendor of heaven is too great for us to bear just now, and so he used parables as clues to the mystery of paradise. In them are hints of heaven, and they are profound spiritual advice meant to guide us on the road to eternal glory.

In our age, Christ's parables are often reduced to exercises in moralism. In these pages, Fr. George Rutler – acclaimed author and EWTN television host – unveils these deceptively simple stories, showing you their hidden meanings and how they apply to our own age and way of life.

Think you know the parables?

THINK AGAIN

Come to a deeper understanding of the 24 parables. Christ knew that the splendor of heaven is too great for us to bear just now, and so he used parables as clues to the mystery of paradise. In them are hints of heaven, and they offer profound spiritual advice meant to guide us on the road to eternal glory.

In recent decades, antipathy toward religious belief in general, and Christianity in particular, has been on the rise, with over a quarter of Americans now identifying as religiously unaffiliated. But the truth of what thoughtful Christians actually believe is not being told.

In Light from Light: A Theological Reflection on the Nicene Creed, Bishop Barron invites skeptics and seekers to discover the intellectual richness of the Catholic faith, and in The Creed, a new six-part film series blending documentary conversations and dynamic talks, Bishop Robert Barron guides viewers into the depths of the Nicene Creed, a fourth-century statement of faith that has profoundly influenced Christian spirituality, theology, and liturgy in both the East and West.

In Acts of the Apostles Section 1, Mark Hart breaks open the history of this powerful book of Scripture.

Through his overview of the first five chapters, we are given context and insight to the early Church. Acts of the Apostles Section 1 will inspire and motivate the modern Christian to study St. Luke's writings and become more devout disciples of Christ.

In Acts of the Apostles Section 2,

Mark Hart continues on in his teaching of the Acts of the Apostles with chapters 6-11. In this breakdown, we are shown the power of a witness — as seen specifically in the stories of St. Stephen and St. Paul — and the newfound baptismal union that Christ calls His missionary disciples into. Mark implores, through this Section, that are called in the same way as Paul and Stephen to share divine truth through the love of Christ.

In Acts of the Apostles Section 3,

Mark Hart continues on in his teaching of the Acts of the Apostles with chapters 12-17. In this video, Mark emphasizes the humanity of the Church and the importance of prayer through the example of the apostles — that the Church is at her best when she parks her humanity and gives way to God’s divinity. Through this Section, we are empowered to enact the power and leadership of the Holy Spirit in all that we say and do.

In Acts of the Apostles Section 4,

Mark Hart concludes his teaching of the Acts of the Apostles with chapters 17-28. In this final part of this video series, Mark sheds light on the “why” of Paul’s conversion, work, and sacrifice as rooted in love of Christ and neighbor, and encourages us — as the apostles exemplified throughout all of Acts — to remain steadfast in the work of evangelization. This last Section implores us with a final wish: that we may be patient, thoughtful, and courageous in our work to draw souls closer to Christ.

It’s unavoidable. We all must eat. But as Catholics, we know that how we eat matters as much as what we eat. (In her book The Catholic Table, award-winning author Emily Stimpson Chapman explains how food is a sign of God’s love and a foretaste of the Eucharist.) Now, in The Catholic Table video series, you’ll discover what the Church teaches about creation, the body, feasting, fasting, the Eucharist—and so much more.

This study features six twenty-minute videos, discussion questions, easy recipes and other practical tips for hospitality.

Dr. Edmund Mazza -- (4 Talk Set)

What Do You Do When the Most Joyous Season of the Year has Become More “Ho-hum” than “Ho, Ho, Ho?” Each Christmas Catholics face the challenge of navigating a yearly routine of commercialism, cards, presents, and parties entirely divorced from the real “reason for the season.” Yet, separated from authentic history, the stable in the little town of Bethlehem is nothing more than a cardboard cutout among the rest of the decorations. While no sensible person would form an opinion on a great book having only read the last chapter, many today light candles and sing Christmas carols in blissful ignorance of the incredible events that led up to the appearance of the Babe in the Manger. But where do you turn to learn the “rest of the story?”

Divine Truth in Earthly History

Edmund Mazza, PhD is the rare university professor who is both humble and courageous enough to challenge the smug assumptions of secular scholarship so as to uncover the true meaning of Christmas precisely in the context of earthly history. In an engaging and entertaining way, Dr. Mazza makes sense of Scripture, Tradition, and history to reveal startling insights from an astounding array of serious sources. Through Old Testament prophecies to ancient oracles to modern discoveries of astronomy and archaeology you will boldly overcome modern ignorance and indifference to enjoy your most profound experience of Christmas ever.
